Berlin public transport journey planner and maps you will find on www.bvg.de/en

The PFH is located in a residential area and there are only a few accommodations within walking distance.

Located north is the gay party mile (around the Motzstr.). There are some hotels, but it might be noisy in the late evening.

It might be better to look for something near U-Bahn or S-Bahn station. The U-7 (blue) line runs frequently (every 5-10 minutes) and there are several interchange stations. For direction the final station is stated (on U7 it is Rudow or Spandau).

Travel information from A to B can be found here <https://sbahn.berlin> or <https://www.bvg.de/en>. For further information check <https://www.bvg.de/en/Welcome..U-> and S-Bahn work well. At bus and tram connections, it can come to failures, which should be planned in to be in time. You can buy tickets on every station at the ticket machines (Short trip – 3 stations - is € 1,70, a oneway-ticket (AB) for 120 min. is € 2,80. For the Schönefeld airport you need a ABC ticket for € 3,40 one way (a dayticket ABC is € 7,70). There are also 4 strip cards available. Taxi numbers, for example: Funk Taxi Berlin + 49 (0)30 26 10 26, Taxi Berlin +49 (0)30 20 20 20

Hotels can be booked e.g. via www.berlin.de/tourismus/unterkunft, <https://berlin.craigslist.org>, tripadvisor.de, agoda.com, booking.com, hrs.de, momondo.de, <https://www.preiswert-uebernachten.de>, etc. or even airbnb.com. The Airbnb offers have decreased because Berlin has a pronounced housing shortage. Professional, private rentals must be registered so that housing is not rented out permanently as holiday apartments. The prices are from cheap to high. Since Berlin has to accommodate many tourists, it is advisable to book as early as possible. On the other hand, if you book shortly before arrival, you can make a bargain.
